

Cowbridge School Newsletter

This week at Cowbridge School ...

It's been a busy week at Cowbridge School and the energy and community spirit displayed by students this week is to be commended as we move further into the Autumn term.

Firstly, huge congratulations to all the students who were involved in the ABBA concert. Their hard work in rehearsals certainly paid off, as the performances were spectacular. It was a wonderful celebration of music and collaboration, and the talent on display was a real credit to the students and the dedication staff.

Our Year 12 Geography students took their learning into the local environment this week with fieldwork in Cowbridge. Applying classroom knowledge to real-world settings is a crucial part of the curriculum and we are proud of the focused and professional way they represented the school while gathering essential data for their studies.

We also want to acknowledge the hard work of Year 11 students participating in the Walking Talking Mocks. This technique provides an excellent opportunity to refine exam strategies, clarify understanding, and build confidence ahead of the GCSE Numeracy examinations in November.

Finally, we have wholeheartedly embraced Wythnos Shwmae this week. This initiative to celebrate and promote the Welsh language saw fantastic engagement across the school!
