

Cowbridge Lower School Newsletter

There was much awe, wonder and curiosity this week in Lower School as we started the season of Advent.

Reverend Ross from Holy Cross church came to visit us and told us the story of the very first Christmas. We helped him re-tell the story using all the very important figures- a truly wonderful experience. A huge thank you to Reverend Ross for taking the time to visit and share this special story with us. We are really looking forward to delivering our stars to him in church!

Nursery have also been busy printing their own Christmas wrapping paper using purple, silver and white. They have been talking about their feelings regarding the forthcoming event from a very special visitor.

Reception continued thinking about people who help us and had a visit from Inspector Ramsay. They had a look inside his police van, dressed up in some very important police clothes and learnt about just how much the police can help us. They also wrote a very polite letter to Father Christmas remembering to use the word "please".

Year 1 continued to practise their letter writing skills and also wrote letters to Father Christmas. Harry Potter has been helping them with subtraction skills as they went hunting around the classroom looking for clues and answers. They have also been learning about Florence Nightingale and understanding why her help was so important.

Year 2 have been using their bodies as an orchestra this week, exploring how they can use their bodies to make different sounds. They have also been expanding their minds and taking on some really tricky subtraction sums and learning about courageous actions of Rosa Parks.

A huge thank you for all the Christmas costumes. We are really excited about welcoming all our families to our performances next week. It has been full steam ahead with our rehearsals as well as keeping our fingers crossed it will be alright on the night!!!!
