Our value this week has been politeness and it has made us extremely proud to see all the good manners that have been on display to familiar and unfamiliar people alike.

In our classrooms there have been stories galore-read, written and performed....

It has been a "beary" busy week in Nursery with Goldilocks and the 3 Bears. They have been fabulous story tellers acting out and re-telling the story of Goldilocks' mischievousness. This led onto some important discussions about being part of a family. There has also been lots of sorting going on, using their knowledge of size to sort all sorts of different items including the bear's clothes-hopefully they were all correct! There was lots of parachute fun with counting but best of all they made porridge...with healthy toppings of course!

Reception have met The 3 Little Wolves and the Big Bad Pig!!! He has sent them letters and challenges all week ranging from designing him a winter party outfit in Welsh, a bigger bedroom, making family portraits and painting vases of flowers. They even had to sort his moving in boxes to stop them falling off the wheelbarrow and investigated which material would keep him warmest in bed...apparently a house made of flowers is not very warm!

The fairies have been fluttering in Year 1 this week posing problems all over the classroom. There have been addition and subtraction challenges to work out how many more fairies can live in family fairy houses, collaboration with a partner to create a new fairy story, making a prop to help re-tell it and story performances in the woodland.

Year 2 started the week off analysing data and researching with Y11 as to how to make their Nursery story sacks. Since then, their classroom has been a hive of activity producing their own unique fairy tales, illustrations, games and props to go into their story sacks. They even found time to consider a dilemma in "The True Story of the 3 Little Pigs" where Alexander T Wolf gives his version of events...just exactly who do you think was telling the truth?
