Wow...what a scorcher of a week!
With our value of the week being determination, we have needed every ounce we could muster to get through what has been an unprecedented week of soaring temperatures. Many thanks for your support and cooperation in helping us navigate extraordinary times.

Despite the heat, the pupils have shown true determination to carry on with their learning.

Nursery have read "The Lighthouse Keeper's Lunch". Pupils then decided what they would like to have in their lunch bag if they were a lighthouse keeper. Keeping on the lighthouse theme they even built their own lighthouses with repeating patterns and also practised their writing skills cutting out jellyfish.

Reception have been reinforcing odd and even numbers and challenged themselves to sort them all the way up to 100! They read the story "The Night Pirates" and decided to make their own treasure maps, pirate portraits and even build their own pirate ships.

Year 1 have had another alien message this week.....the beings from outer space have finally revealed themselves as Alys and Alfred from Neptune. They have asked for Year 1's help in researching and ordering the planets. Pupils decided to write their own mnemonics to help their alien friends

Year 2 have continued their learning about Captain Cook using Google maps to locate the different countries visited by the explorer challenging their reading skills to answer questions about his travels.. This, in turn, led onto them developing their understanding about position and direction in order to locate all sorts of pirate paraphernalia.

We look forward to welcoming all our families on Friday 3rd July at 9:30am to our rearranged Sports Day.

Here's hoping for some cooler temperatures for the rest of the term!
