

Cowbridge Lower School Newsletter

19.6.25

Even though it's only been a four day week, it hasn't stopped us squeezing as much learning in as we possibly could!

We did it again.....we have grown our own crop of potatoes! We estimated how many we would grow but couldn't believe our eyes when we saw how many there actually was.....it is official, Cowbridge Lower School definitely does have green fingers! Mrs. Beaton will now cook them for us to enjoy at our potato party.

Nursery have boarded the shapes train this week. As well as thinking about which shapes could be used to build a train, they have also been using their positional language to practise putting them in different positions. They have also been designing their own junk model modes of transport....I wonder where these amazing machines will take them?

Reception have been reaching for the skies this week both in and out of space. They have been learning all about aeroplanes-making passports, planes and staying healthy and safe on a journey. Inspired by the alien spaceship crash landing they set up a rocket café, made space snacks, painted pictures of what they might see from a rocket window, wrote a list of what they might take into space and practised counting backwards to launch their rockets. What a blast!

Year 1 have received more communication from Alan the missing Alien. They have been exploring feelings by imaging what it must be like to be lost in a strange place. They have been practising their fractions to help Alan share his welsh cakes when he goes home and writing postcards to tell his friends all about his adventures.

Hoping you all enjoy a lovely long weekend....stay cool!
