

Cowbridge Lower School Newsletter

4.7.25

Things have definitely been hotting up for summer in Lower School this week!

It has been all about friendship, cooperation and teamwork in Nursery. They read "Mr. Gumpy's Outing" by John Burningham, then working as a team, they practised re-telling the story, pretending to be Mr. Gumpy and all the people and animals he took in his boat. They even had a go at making up their own endings! There were all sorts of boating and animal adventures going on! They have continued with the team theme outside and have been learning how to play games a member of a team, a very tricky skill indeed-bendigedig Nursery!

Reception have been reaching for the skies again this week.....this time in helicopters! They have imagined what it might be like to be a helicopter pilot and wrote about an adventure they went on. They practised their positional language by placing a helicopter in a variety of locations and sequenced objects according to temperature.

Year 1's space adventures have continued with fervour. They have been writing space reports, planet mnemonics, sending messages to their alien friends and even designed their own planets. They have been researching their own sensational space facts and sharing them with everyone who visits their classroom! Alan has even left mysterious presents.....eggs or planets? They have also been developing their understanding of positional language and used appropriate vocabulary to describe turns and positions.

Reception and Year 1 had double German this week! As well as learning their numbers with Frau Powlson on Wednesday, Frau Jenkins and Y12 pupils invited us to the big school to practise our counting and decorate biscuits. We had an amazing time and the biscuits were lecker-schmecker!! Danke German department.

